Evaluation Committee

Application 1:	Advocates to End Domestic Violence
Abstract:	The Positive Parenting Through Family Crisis is a secondary prevention program that provides intensive individualized training to survivors of domestic violence and at-risk families. The program goal is to prevent child abuse and neglect by developing positive skills, establishing structured and daily routine toward affecting long-term change that impacts survivors and their children's lives. Positive Parenting begins by individually assessing parents' skill levels, identifying areas for focus and improvement. The program works one-on-one with parents utilizing a 6-week evidence-based curriculum that incorporates pre-post tests, behavior modeling, home visits, nutrition, positive discipline, and behavior modification. A new component of the program will be a primary prevention social media campaign. The evidence-informed program will target at-large families in the community with engaging posts that build upon the Protective Factors to strengthen the parent-child bond.

Evaluation Review
Discuss the Pros of the overall project	The only agency providing services in Carson City to domestic violence survivors. Only parent education program provided in a shelter, 20 clients, roughly $1,282 per client, promising a new social media campaign.
Discuss the areas of the project that were not clear	The evaluation component for five families Use of the word engagement
Discuss the proposed service area. Does the application discuss the geographic area proposed and how services will be provided?	Domestic violence survivors in Carson City and referrals from neighboring counties, services provided in shelter and when necessary at a hotel or home. 20 unduplicated parents (step), 16 will complete, 5 for families, 12,000 total views, 720 engagements.
Discuss the reasonableness of the budget proposed	\$25,648 CTF, has a strong core of fundraisers (Classy Seconds). $25648 / 20 = 1282 \text{ PER CLIENT}$ $35979/20 = 1798 \text{ PER CLIENT}$

Application 3:	Boys Towns- In-Home Services
Abstract:	Boys Town Nevada will provide a home-based family preservation and stabilization service through the In-Home Family Services (IHFS) model. Through this project, Boys Town Nevada will target at-risk families in Clark County, aiming to decrease the rate of first-time victims of child maltreatment and first-time perpetrators of child abuse. Family preservation services will be provided remotely through the remainder of the state utilizing the guiding framework of our in-home services to build and strengthen parenting skills and child protective factors. To mitigate the Consultant's inability to provide in-person crisis support, service delivery will be augmented by accepting referrals for low to moderate risk for child abuse/neglect, outreach with safety and mental health services in rural communities, virtual visits will also include children, and crisis supports will be available if a family is experiencing high stress or there are safety concerns

Evaluation Review
Discuss the Pros of the overall project	Established program that is supported by a large national organization and long-time leadership at the local level. Good evidence-based program.
Discuss the areas of the project that were not clear	The application cites that the IHFS model is based on the evidence-based Teaching Family Model- however that model requires 9 months of 10-15 sessions in home per week, which is not the model described in the application. The actual program (IHFS) requesting funding is not rated as evidence-based by the California Clearinghouse (rated NR), and it is also hard to justify the very high price tag given 4 staff will need to be hired and will have no experience with the model. It is not clear how many families will be served outside of Clark County and the relationships there are weak.
Discuss the proposed service area. Does the application discuss the geographic area proposed and how services will be provided?
Discuss the reasonableness of the budget proposed	Services costly per number of families served but families receive more time per family, rural visit to establish relationship may drive up costs, not unreasonable. Several positions to be hired, training time may be required. The cost is very high for the number of families served and given the lack of relationship in the rural or the designation of how many families will be served it might not be the best way to go.

Discuss the Pros of the overall project	The proposal provides a good problem statement and offers a solid programmatic solution to a serious and large problem. The proposal offers a program that elevates community awareness and provides concrete prevention skills around sexual abuse of children.

	Some of the pros is teaching children as young as pre-k the values of recognizing potential future sexual violence. This project also teaches children at all levels of school age the importance of what to do in a relationship, etc. This program also gives parents an opportunity to come together to find solutions to issues they may be having. This project also builds a relationship between the agency and CCSD.
Discuss the areas of the project that were not clear	This proposal would have benefitted from sharing concrete information around the pre and post survey. This tool is a key component of the evaluation plan. Sharing data from the survey in previous program years would have been beneficial. How long are the lessons? How have the previous lessons done in past schoolyear been perceived? Are these classes mandatory for all children? Do parents' opt-in or opt-out?
Discuss the proposed service area. Does the application discuss the geographic area proposed and how services will be provided?	Provided a good problem statement for national numbers around increased rates of childhood sexual abuse. Provided demographic information for the Las Vegas area. Identified 11,000 reported cases of child sexual abuse The agency serves Clark County. Clark County has a population of roughly 2 million and with this program, this agency will serve Title 1 schools that suffer high violence and poverty. This agency will not only teach the children in the title one schools, but they will teach the teachers as well.
Discuss the reasonableness of the budget proposed	The budget is asking to pay for mostly salary position with some travel expensive and office expensive, which is reasonable as this program is a teachable program and needs person to teach the program.
Discuss the applicability of the budget proposed	mostly salary due to the program being a teachable program.

Evaluation Review
Discuss the Pros of the overall project	This proposal did a really good job researching and articulating who the other community partners were serving these counties. They position their program as unique and unduplicated and selected a program with a high level of efficacy. Provides a service that is needed in this area
Discuss the areas of the project that were not clear	The client led peer to peer component of this program was not entirely clear to this reader. At one-point train the trainer is mentioned but I didn't ultimately understand how a client was prepared to lead a peer-to-peer support group. Does not have measures of effectiveness.
Discuss the proposed service area. Does the application discuss the geographic area proposed and how services will be provided?	Provided data from the Annie E. Cassie Foundation substantiating Nevada's ranking at 47. Talked about the need in "service deserts". Provided significant information about the other partners providing services in these 5. Data for CAP is outdated Good but concerned services are only offered Mon-Fri during the day.

Evaluation Review
Discuss the Pros of the overall project	Eight trainings to enhance skill sets in rural Nevada. The trainings topics are very good.
Discuss the areas of the project that were not clear	Carson City, Churchill, Douglas, Elko, Lyon, and Storey counties: how much overlap is there with parenting education programming in those counties? Plans to work together after 8 sessions. All of the classes are virtual, overlap not indicated although some content is different.

	The application overall is no clear in areas with regards to who the trainings are for and how participants will be engaged with after
Discuss the proposed service area. Does the application discuss the geographic area proposed and how services will be provided?	6 rural counties plus Washoe County: 8 live virtual trainings per quarter, bi-annual safety conference 500 participants for the 8 sessions. The groups states that no other groups are provided services in a virtual format, however this is not true as PCANV does support training statewide currently in a virtual platform. In addition, there are other agencies that offer parent trainings virtually including the children's cabinet. Although they are not the exact same classes. The presentation of numbers is not quite explained correctly and because they are only presenting one year, they are not referencing that the number of cases is consistent. Also, they are using statewide numbers rather than local to their area and the data for this are available.
Discuss the reasonableness of the budget proposed	Good portion of funding going to CASAT to develop on-line training and house repository, not clear why the amount is needed to do that aspect, additional funding included for bi-annual conference, two full-time trainers for eight live virtual classes, all other classes available via recordings, not clear why two full-time trainers are necessary.

Evaluation Review
Discuss the Pros of the overall project	Evidence-based programming The evaluation plan and the corresponding successes (referenced early in the proposal) are really well done. I also appreciated that the proposal shared what screening tools were used to identify families -- very thorough. This agency has been around the Reno and now state for the past 30+ years. They offer services to help families be safe and keep them together. This agency offers over 30 different programs and their programs are evidence based and with this program they are able to teach parenting classes through a variety of different ways. Parenting Classes help parents' parent with evidence-based practices. These classes give parents the ability to learn and adapt their parenting style.

Discuss the areas of the project that were not clear	It is not clear how they will target counties outside of Washoe. The proposal references that the organization has protocols for virtual service delivery but then does not share what they are. Waitlist was unclear on what their policy was and if they have or need a waitlist.
Discuss the proposed service area. Does the application discuss the geographic area proposed and how services will be provided?	Proposal sites that as of December 31, 2020, there were 3,647 child protective services reports for the rural region. Out of the 3,647 reports, 870 of these reports were investigated, with most of these reports being for neglect According to the agency's application, there seems to be a gap in the Reno area regarding the availability of parenting classes. Even though the agency based out of Reno, this agency has now branched out to other agencies, which has allowed them to focus on Rural areas across the state of Nevada.
Discuss the reasonableness of the budget proposed	The agency did input a quick table in their application regarding what they would spend their money one and it seems like the majority would be spent on personal which seems reasonable as this is a teaching course and most of it should be spent on the instructors.

Evaluation Review
Discuss the Pros of the overall project	This project is an evidence-based program that will increase the parent's awareness and help them access resources that may not be able to access without the PAT service. This agency already started this program in the Elko area in 2020; however, they are looking to expand this service. This agency will provide strength-based case management to each family participating in the PAT program. Elko is a very rural part of the state and having a more diverse source of resources to help their families in need, is a positive.
Discuss the areas of the project that were not clear	Why only 12 families? How intensive is this program where the case worker could only serve 12 families in a year? The application also indicated that this program is a 24-month program, how does the agency keep their families engaged for that length of time? That seems like a long time for a program.
Discuss the proposed service area. Does the	Elko is a very rural part of the state and having a more diverse source of resources to help their families in need, is a positive. Elko does not have many services in their town and so having more services that helps people will hopefully keep more children out of foster care.

Discuss the reasonableness of the budget proposed	Most of the budget for this program was for salary and upkeep. I have a hard time with spending 100,000 for 12 families. If the program was able to serve more than 12 families, I would think 100,000 would be appropriate.
Discuss the applicability of the budget proposed	The agency is going to use the funds that they requested to present their materials to local partners and fund their program with a salary position. Evaluation Review
Discuss the Pros of the overall project	The concept of case management and providing resources and supports as childhood homelessness strategy is positive.

	This is an area of great need.
Discuss the areas of the project that were not clear	The outcomes could include a tool that measures whether anyone is better off as a result of the case management services -- something that measures the impact of the case management itself. Currently, the evaluation is designed around the completion of tasks -- enrollment in program, needs assessment complete, two goals met -- this might have been accomplished by providing an example of what a goal would be. Not connecting to child maltreatment and measurables do not include main target.
Discuss the proposed service area. Does the application discuss the geographic area proposed and how services will be provided?	Proposal gives nation statistic on student/child homelessness, provides data that 500,000 people in Clark county are late for the rent -- does not give detail around how many people live in Clark County to help scale the issue. 11.5% unemployment rate highest metropolitan area -- again, would be helpful to understand the size of the potential workforce. There is no connection to homelessness and child maltreatment
Discuss the reasonableness of the budget proposed	Two full time advocates dedicated to this program equals roughly 4000 available hours each year. This proposal is for services to 100 at risk community members. That equals 40 hours of services per community member. Nye County is the largest county in Nevada, covering over 18,000 square miles. The population of Nye County is 44,380, with 16.4% of the population living at or below the poverty level. Nye County's children are living below poverty at the extraordinary rate of 22%. Grandparents are the primary caregivers of 8.3% of Nye County's children and household with children receiving public assistance or benefits is 39.8%, as opposed to 27.2% nationally. The PFRC currently sees hundreds of clients each year that are considered "at-risk", with risk factors such as disabled, economically disadvantaged, homeless, racial, and ethnic minorities, persons with low literacy, victims of abuse or persecution, and persons with social risk factors such as isolation. Application 19:	Specialized Alternatives for Families and Youth of Nevada (SAFY)
Abstract:	SAFY of NV is proposing to offer caregiver support groups "Parenting on Purpose (POP)" targeted to caregivers who have experienced developmental trauma. The 16-week POP sessions will provide caregivers an opportunity to develop the tools and skills to parent in a regulated, consistent, and emotionally safe manner to help combat multi-generational trauma and reduce the occurrence of child maltreatment. Based on the tenets of the Neorosequential Model of Therapy, a global evidence-based practice, and guided by the needs and interests of the group participants, POP will offer psychoeducation and peer support to caregivers increasing sensory integration and self-regulation and improving relational skills. In turn, POP will also increase caregivers' protective factors and reduce the risk of multi-generational trauma.

Evaluation Review
Discuss the Pros of the overall project	Appreciated that the assessment and monitoring tools were included with this proposal. They were interesting and very helpful in understanding the strategies and changes the program seeks to support. Good program not currently offered.
Discuss the areas of the project that were not clear	The program being offered and why it is being offered are very strong. The profile of who would benefit from these services is clear. The need for these services in Clark County and how you will find these community. Does not say how they are going to screen for families to ensure they have the right experience.
Discuss the proposed service area. Does the application discuss the geographic area proposed and how services will be provided?	Within the past year, SAFY of NV has demonstrated the capability to successfully expand our capacity to meet our Clark County community's growing needs. Our census numbers have increased nearly 25% within our therapeutic foster care program. More data could have been included regarding child abuse and neglect and how their program relates ACEs to prevention of child maltreatment

Discuss the Pros of the overall project	In-school program targeting 1 st and 2 nd grade students, good collaboration with school district and community. This is a small community that needs all the support they can get. In the application, the agency states the following "the County's boom-bust economic environment has led to generational cycles of low-income and substance abuse within the townships. This results in support services being overrun as abused women then become mothers, or abused men then become fathers restarting the cycle. Effective school-based programs can have a significant impact on both parents and children."
